Jennifer Kolari

Author of the book 'Connected Parenting', Jennifer will guide teachers on how to be an effective and eloquent communicator to parents.

Happy Parents/ Happy Kids

Building trust with parents with The Connected Classroom

Managing parent relationships is vital to student and school success, and is an important part of a strong school community. Developed by Jennifer Kolari, the Connected Parenting model will show participants how The Connected Classroom helps directresses enhance their relationships with both parents and children. This technique helps parents trust in the Montessori program which will allow teachers to do what they do best.

Based on neurological research, this workshop is fascinating, funny, and full of powerful techniques that really work. Using anecdotes, humour, and sample dialogue, the audience will be introduced to the Connected Parenting/ Connected Classroom model. Both theory and practice will be explained step-by-step. Participants will leave inspired with practical and useful strategies to try as soon as they get back to the classroom.

Dr. Ira Schweitzer

Certified in co-operative education techniques as well as in "brain learning" techniques for the classroom teacher, Dr. Schweitzer will talk about children diagnosed with ADD and ADHD and how we as teachers can help them in the classroom environment.

Teaching Children with ADD and ADHD

This workshop will primarily focus on how the brain reacts in children with various learning differences. Dr. Ira Schweitzer is a Registered Social Worker in Ontario, has a Doctorate in Education and Social Change as well as a certificate in Cognitive Behaviour Therapy from the Toronto Association of Professional Education and is currently the director of Education at Temple Sinai.
